

Directions from Buffalo / Toronto

Cross the border into Ontario and take the Q.E.W towards Toronto.

Go past Hamilton and over the Burlington Bridge and then it curves east. Follow Q.E.W past Burlington to Oakville.

Just past Oakville take Hwy 403 east/north to hwy 401.

Take hwy 401 to Hwy 400 North (to Barrie). Follow Hwy 400 and just north of Barrie the 400 ends and it spits into Hwy 11 and Hwy 69. Take Hwy 11.

Follow Hwy 11 all the way to North Bay. When you get to North Bay, there is a little jog through part of the city. Just follow the Hwy 11 signs.

Then drive north all the way to Cochrane. Hwy 11 turns west at Cochrane. Follow Hwy 11 west all the way to Longlac.

Drive about 15 minutes past Longlac and you will see a sign for Hwy 584 North to Geraldton. Drive through Geraldton and 40 minutes north is Nakina.

As you drive into Nakina, you will stop at a stop-sign. Go straight one block and turn left on Quebec Street (someone keeps stealing the Quebec Street sign so look for the airport sign and follow). Drive about 2 miles to Cordingley Lake. You will drive past the airport, which has a landing strip. Go to Cordingley Lake where there are multiple float plane bases. Pull into Nakina Air Service as they fly you out to the outpost. 19 hours drive.
